Indiana University Jacobs School of Music welcomes 2010-11 Jacobs Scholars and Jacobs Fellows

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Sept. 15, 2010

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. -- Eight new Jacobs Scholars and four new Jacobs Fellows began their studies this fall at the Indiana University Jacobs School of Music. Selected from a large pool of incoming students, they are the recipients of the most prestigious and substantial scholarship awards in the school.

The new class of 12 Jacobs Scholars and Fellows, selected for their excellence and leadership in the world of music, was chosen from a group of 3,094 applicants who auditioned for fall 2010 admission to the school. Of these, 1,051 were admitted to the Jacobs School, with an incoming class totaling 515 students.

The program began in 2006 and now boasts 58 Jacobs Scholars and Fellows. These scholarships are made possible by the Barbara and David H. Jacobs endowment for undergraduate and graduate scholarships and fellowships and Indiana University's Matching the Promise campaign.

Laurel Roseborrough -- From Southlake, Texas, Roseborrough is pursuing the Bachelor of Music in horn and is a student of Jeff Nelsen. A graduate of Keller High School, Roseborrough is a winner of the Greater Dallas Youth Orchestra Concerto Competition. She has participated in the Texas Music Educators Association (TMEA) All-State Orchestra and served as first chair in the TMEA All-Region Orchestra and as drum major of Keller's marching band. She was also a member of the National Honor Society.
